Dear Mr. Sachs,

I saw your new commercial on TV this morning and wanted to say "Thank You".

We are loosing many rights that our country has always had including worshipping God. I'm not sure what our current government administration believes in but I don't think it is God. I'm amazed we have a man running our country that doesn't seem to be a believer. No matter what happens to this country, God will have the last word. People voted for change and that is what we are getting.

I appreciate you standing up for what you believe in. Our preacher tells us that it is time for Christians to take a stand for what we believe in.

Thank you for having the courage to take a stand. May God bless you with His richest blessings.

Sincerely,

Susan Cook
